Are solar PV policies underutilized in South East Asian countries?

South East Asian countries are blessed with abundant solar energy potential. Yet, the solar photovoltaic potential remains underutilized. There are certain roadblocks in the progress of solar PV deployment in ASEAN. This paper aims to investigate the solar PV policies in the ASEAN region over the past decade.

Are there support mechanisms for solar PV development in ASEAN countries?

ASEAN countries are expected to have substantial growth in solar PV deployment. The PV market in the ASEAN region has not evolved into a solid, self-sustaining PV market. Hence there is a necessity for policies and support mechanisms in ASEAN countries. Fig. 1. Different types of support mechanisms for solar PV development. 3.1.

Does South East Asia have a solar PV market?

The South East Asia region is an emerging photovoltaic market at its early-stage growth. ASEAN countries are expected to have substantial growth in solar PV deployment. The PV market in the ASEAN region has not evolved into a solid, self-sustaining PV market. Hence there is a necessity for policies and support mechanisms in ASEAN countries. Fig. 1.

What role will China play in the solar PV supply chain?

However, irrespective of European regional goals, China will maintain a predominant role in the solar PV supply chain due to the advantages of manufacturing capacity and costs, and the need to expand global capacity by over 1.5 times.

How does uncertainty affect solar policy in ASEAN member states?

Uncertainty and delay affected the success of solar policies in some ASEAN member states. Adoption of the FiT scheme for early-stage PV development and the Renewable Portfolio Standard (RPS) for advanced-stage PV development are the main policy recommendations.

Are solar policies in ASEAN prone to termination/modification?

Government policies and schemes are prone to termination/modification. Since policies keep changing with economic and political scenarios, an updated overview of solar policies in ASEAN is always needed. While few literatures reported solar policy in the context of ASEAN, the present study is intended to provide new knowledge in two main ways.

Moreover, the absence of China from the ISA adds a layer of complexity to South Asia's solar strategy, given China's dominance in the global solar industry and its substantial ...
